

CITIZENS NAME THEIR CHOICE

Councilmanic Candidates Are Chosen in the Five Municipal Wards.

SLATE IS BADLY BROKEN

DELEGATES SAY THEY HOPE THE OTHER PARTIES WILL HELP.

CITIZENS COUNCILMANIC TICKET.

First ward—J. D. Murdoch, long term; J. E. Hyde, short term.
Second ward—George Burbridge, long term; B. G. Raybould, short term.
Third ward—G. H. Bachman, long term; J. W. Taylor, short term.
Fourth ward—George N. Lawrence, long term; J. E. Langford, short term.
Fifth ward—Noble Warrum, long term; John M. Knight, short term.

Three Democratic councilmanic nominees for the city council were endorsed by the Citizens ward conventions last evening. Seven other nominations were made. In some wards these nominees were chosen from men it was hoped that the Republicans might also choose. If any of their nominees become members of the council it is probable that the purpose of the Citizens party is to claim the credit for his election, even though he may be a member and the candidate of another party. In one or two instances, either through poor management or unforeseen circumstances, the slate arranged for was broken, but in most cases it went through according to schedule.

J. E. Langford, vice president and general manager of the Salt Lake road, and George N. Lawrence were both nominated for the long term in the fourth municipal ward. The slate was broken and the pieces scattered under the misapprehension that Mr. Lawrence would positively refuse the nomination. Then the little gathering rescinded its action in nominating Mr. Langford for the long term, and when a valiant effort to collect the fragments of the slate failed, Mr. Lawrence was nominated for the long term, and Mr. Langford was elected for the short term. This particular part of the slate which bore the name of Joseph Kimball, the Democratic nominee, was lost, and although his name was presented there was no record.

Slate Is Smashed.

The slip which smashed the slate was made through a report that Mr. Lawrence would under no consideration accept any nomination from the party. This led to a revision, which called for J. E. Langford for the long term and Joseph Kimball for the short term. Just when the chairman called for the nomination of Mr. Langford for the long term against Royal W. Dayner by a vote of 9 to 14, Mr. Lawrence entered the room and told the slate makers that he might be induced to accept, if he had a high regard for the convention to decide to reconsider the nomination, and then there were only five opposing votes.

Then came the problem. Should Langford be ditched for Kimball, the Democratic nominee, or should he be sustained? The vote was for Langford, after the question as to whether his connection with a railroad holding a city franchise and likely to seek for more, would interfere with his holding office in the council was left unsettled after a discussion.

J. H. Nelson was Langford's chief supporter, but the vote for Lawrence was won by acclamation. After the vote had been made, a motion was made to make his nomination unanimous, and this motion carried with only one dissenting.

Seeks Some Help.

Although more than ninety delegates were named in the fourth ward, only twenty-three were present, and in order to get the vote of A. B. Irvine, a motion was made to allow all present who were in sympathy with the movement to act as delegates. Mr. Irvine protested that he hoped to be named a delegate to the Republican convention, for the sole purpose of using his influence to induce the Republicans to endorse the candidates of the Citizens party. In the same manner, J. Q. Critchlow was allowed a vote after he stated that he had several verbal proxies, but forgot who had given them.

The acceptance of Mr. Lawrence came under protest, after he had been urged to "make hero of himself."

The following ward campaign committee was elected, with power to fill vacancies that might occur: George P. Felt, 41; John Q. Critchlow, 42; Lucian A. Ray, 43; D. L. Murdoch, 44; E. J. Brown, 45; John L. Ford, 46; and George J. Cannon, 47. The convention wanted to name Mr. Felt as chairman of the committee, but some one suggested that perhaps the committee would like to do its own organizing, and this went.

The convention was called to order by C. A. F. Orlob. L. E. Hall was elected permanent chairman and F. Y. Fox secretary.

Without a ripple the delegates to the Citizens' convention of the first ward swallowed the bitter pill presented by the people who made the slate, J. D. Murdoch, whom it was believed the Republicans would re-nominate, was named for the long term in the council, and J. S. Hyde, whom the Democrats have already chosen as the candidate for the short term, was endorsed as the Citizens candidate for the position.

Nomination Unanimous.

Mr. Murdoch was nominated by Louis Iverson, and his nomination seconded by Orson H. Hewlett, P. A. Gertson and Councilman Oliver Hodgson. There was no other candidate and Mr. Murdoch's nomination was made unanimous. Mr. Murdoch was present, and in a brief speech accepted the nomination. Mr. Hyde was named by Lon J. Haddock, and his nomination was also made unanimous. He was not present, and a committee was sent to bring him to the meeting. It was found that he was in Murray, but from his wife it was learned that he was in sympathy with the Citizens movement and would feel honored to accept a position on the Citizens ticket.

E. C. Ashton officiated as chairman of the meeting and J. A. Burt as secretary. Mr. Ashton was appointed on the city committee to succeed W. H. Levey, who resigned because he was a candidate on the city ticket. Q. J. Hewlett called attention to the statement made that the Badger election law passed at the last session of the legislature would interfere with the endorsement of other candidates by the Citizens party. Mr. Ashton had had talked to Mr. Badger, and was assured by him that there was nothing in the law to prevent such action. Mr. Ashton said he was glad that Senator Badger had explained the bill of which he was the author, because there was no other lawyer in the city who understood it.

The Second Ward.

George W. Burbridge for the long term and B. G. Raybould for the short term were the councilmanic nominees of the Second municipal ward. No opposition developed to either of the names presented before the convention, and the rules were suspended and both nominated by acclamation. Short nominating speeches in praise of the strong business qualities of the two men were made by John W. Bowd for Burbridge and by George Smith for Raybould.

Delegates to the convention in the third municipal ward nominated Gustave H. Bachman and Joseph W. Taylor for the offices of councilmen—Mr. Bachman for the long term and Mr. Taylor for the short term. To succeed John Holley and Henry J. Cowburn.

On motion of C. H. Felt, it was decided that the three members of the ward on the city committee—James N. Haelam, P. S. Fernstrom and F. A.

Ellis—should be authorized to accept any resignations and fill vacancies which should occur on the councilmanic ticket, and use necessary legal means to get the names on the ballot.

John M. Knight was nominated for the short term and Noble Warrum for the long term in the city council as members from the Fifth municipal ward. The latter, who acted as chairman of the meeting, attempted mild remonstrances to his nomination.

M'MILLIN STEPS OUT OF POLITICS

Official Notification of Appointment as Census Supervisor.

Hugh A. McMillin, recently appointed supervisor of the census for Utah, yesterday received an official notification of the approval of his appointment by President Taft, subject to certain conditions. The letter notifying Mr. McMillin of his appointment was from E. Dana Durand, director of the census. In this letter Mr. McMillin was asked what political positions, if any, he held and was told that the appointment was non-political and that he would be expected not to engage in politics in any capacity.

Pursuant to his instructions Mr. McMillin yesterday resigned as chairman of the organization of the forty-fourth district, and Harry S. Joseph was named to succeed him. Mr. McMillin has written Mr. Durand to learn whether or not his resignation from the state legislature is contemplated in the appointment.

In the communication to Mr. McMillin was enclosed a copy of a letter from President Taft to Charles Nagel, secretary of the department of commerce and labor. This letter said that the 300 supervisors were to be chosen not because of political activity, but because of their political fitness for the position. He suggested that the naming of the supervisors be left entirely within the jurisdiction of the supervisors and that they be free to select whomsoever they may decide upon as the men most fitted for the position.

Mr. McMillin said that he was perfectly in harmony with the president's communication and that the enumerators he should choose would be chosen only because of their qualifications to hold such positions and that no other consideration would enter into the selections.

A ROUSING RECEPTION

That John P. Meakin, the well known fraternal lecturer, has a warm spot in the hearts of the people of the Fourteenth ward was shown by the rousing reception tendered him by the bishopric of the Fourteenth ward and many friends at the ward chapel last night. An excellent program was rendered and the reception parlous of the nature of a love feast. Following is the program:

Song "Annie Laurie"
T. H. Burt.
Address Bishop Elias Woodruff
Song "When the Ebb Tide Flows"
T. H. Burt.
Address Mr. Meakin
Short talks Mr. Meakin
Solo Mrs. Joie Meakin
Poetic monologues Mr. Meakin
Solo Mrs. Joie Meakin
Following the program, the evening was spent informally, and many pleasant reminiscences were told by the many friends present.

James Christiansen Will Enter Plea Next Wednesday

James Christiansen, former state treasurer.

James Christiansen, former state treasurer, who is charged with the embezzlement of $1,000 of the state funds, was arraigned before Judge E. D. Lewis of the Third district court yesterday on two counts and was given until Wednesday to enter his plea to the charges. When arraigned Mr. Christiansen listened to the complaints quietly and showed no signs of worry. While the details were being arranged by his attorney, Major Samuel A. King, Mr. Christiansen visited in the corridor of the city and county building.

On one count Mr. Christiansen is charged with embezzling $10,000, paid as an inheritance tax by the Julia A. Kimball estate. The date of this alleged theft is fixed at May 20, 1908. Just before his term as state treasurer expired Mr. Christiansen is charged with stealing $20,000—Salt Lake county taxes. The county taxes, amounting to $20,000 were paid to Mr. Christiansen by J. A. Groesbeck, treasurer of Salt Lake county.

ENGINEERS HOLD A HOUSEWARMING

Members of the Utah Society of Engineers on Friday night held their first meeting of the season, to get the work of the year started, the gathering being in the nature of a "housewarming" in the new quarters. In Room 702 of the Newhouse building. Beginning with the October meeting, technical papers will be presented each month.

It was decided to appoint a committee to represent the society at the American Mining congress, which is to be held at Goldfield, and the committee will be announced later. A committee, consisting of L. Hanchett, E. P. Jennings, L. S. Cates, R. Forrester and E. F. Tibby, was appointed to entertain the members of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, who will visit Salt Lake in a week or two, on their way home from Seattle. A committee consisting of O. A. Honnold, D. McNeil, C. A. Cohn and Leonard Wilson, was named to entertain Ralph W. Pope, secretary of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, who will visit this city Sept. 25.

The society voted and new members into the organization—J. N. Villadsen, A. B. Villadsen, Henry C. Hoyt, George M. Bacon, L. Douglass Anderson and C. U. Reuser.

RAILROADS AND CROPS IN IDAHO ARE GOOD

Dan S. Spencer, assistant general passenger agent for the Oregon Short Line, has returned from his junket to Idaho full of enthusiasm for the irrigated sections. He visited Burley, Twin Falls and Milner and says that the crop yields all through that section will be enormous this year, with a good demand for the products and correspondingly good prices.

There is much activity also in railroad building. The Twin Falls extension south to Hollister is now built for about fifteen miles and materials for the big Salmon river dam are being delivered over the new rails.
